THE concert to-night at Leubric's theater, as a musical attraction, under the management of Mr. I. Snowden, president of the board of trustees of the Leath orphan asylum, deserves a full house. First, it will be a fine entertainment, including Major Barney Hughes' humorous lecture; and, |. second, it is for the benefit of a worthy

This would have been found by copying the article clipped from entire, that General Garfield is the author of this though it might not have answered the purpose. Why congress did not do this or that a year or two ago is more than we can explain, unless it was because our able cotemporary did not put in its demands in time. We were not running congress that particular season, but it is fact, nevertheless, that whatever investigation was made, originated on the democratic side. The Avalanche has just "waked up" to that fact. The democratic is depunish. While the postoffice department was packed by the administration, it is a great slight.

night was an affair as deplorable as it without active support. Had the present senators shown passive support it would not have answered. Without the state of New York General Garfield who is said to have gone to his bed without knowing that his blow was a fatal one, is in the hands of the law, and the matter will doubtless be freely and fairly investigated. General Turner for the state will press the prosecution and spare no pains to see that justice is dohe. The defendant, a mere youth and almost an entire stranger here, has worked and acted in such a way as to secure the confidence and respect of his employer, Mr. Charley Kney, who will not desert or turn against the boy in the hour york without active support. Had the present senators shown passive support it would not have answered. Able counsel will, therefore, appear on both sides, and the courts will determine the nature and degree of the crime, if one was committed. The law will take its proper course. The spring and summer picnic is a great institution to people who have no other source of out-door even then the Garfield men could have amusement, but we could never see caused a dead-lock in the legislature where the enjoyment comes in after over the choice of a senator if they eleven or twelve o'clock at night. had chosen. It is well known that The quiet people, who expect to do a Thomas C. Platt the votes of eighteen good day's work the next day, generally leave early, while those who are ling candidates for United States senyoung, thoughtless, or benton a frolic, often remain much later, and it is among them that disturbances are liable to arise. To say nothing of sixty-three votes. It takes eighty-one laters are liable to arise. To say nothing of sixty-three votes. It takes eighty-one this, it is not pleasant for those who have retired to sleep at home, to be aroused at two or three o'clock in the from the caucus, gone into the legislamorning, as is often the case, on Vance and other streets, by the shouts and and songs, and sometimes oaths of returning premiekers. If managers would be a proper some other republican candidate, there would have been a dead-lock, and Platt would probably not have been elected.

says: "The senators have returned their commissions to the state. New York voted the republican ticket last Nevember. Senators Conkling and Platt. The most ardent friends of Conkling in the legislature do not have the audacity to claim the administration, and inasmuch as that 81 republicans, the necessary the administration was put in power number to re-cleet him, have deterby the state of New York and other mined to vote for his re-election. States, and as Conkling was bound to antagonize the president, he evidently senators and 60 republican assemblythought that the best thing for him to do was to tender his commission. He now goes back to New York fully expecting to meet with indersement there. I can see no other reason than this. He submits to the people his action, and awaits their verdict. If he is relected and sent back here, he will not only have the reflecting of their views for the future, but the confirmation by them of his course in the past. It will all come forth very shortly. When the resignation was first read I was busy reading a letter and did not catch thought that the best thing for him to men, but this makes only 72, or 9 busy reading a letter and did not catch distinctly what it was, so I called for The Garfield men still arow their a second reading. I was quite surprised when I found out what it was.
